

Testimonial from Connie Shaw, International Speaker, Author, Life Coach, Founder of Quantum Gazing International.

My associations with Sandra Cranage-Dzanovic over the past few years have involved many settings and projects, which have given me a unique opportunity to observe her in a variety of roles, both professional, social and personal. She has done an outstanding leadership job as the Quantum

Gazing Coordinator for Skype Gazing Sessions in both Melbourne and in Murwillumbah.

She is very charismatic, both in her individual client work as holistic healing facilitator/practitioner, as well as in settings in which she is leading and teaching people of all ages. There are, however, two rare qualities that Sandra possesses, in addition to her many skill-sets, which set her apart from most other people in her field, or in any field.

The first is that she has integrated and embodied the spiritual qualities and values that give her the insights, compassion and heart to commit to the overall renewal and galvanising of her clients, to help them to identify and to fulfil their life purpose.

The second quality, which is even more rare, is the gift to see deeply into people, and to be able, with her very developed “Shakti energy of love,” to lift and to shift the client’s/students’ energies and sense of self at a very profound and deep level.

This gift is the gift of a true spiritual teacher, whereby that facilitator empowers others to become their best selves, both in personal relationships, as well as in career, in social life and in community service work, instead of encouraging them to depend solely upon her, which would be a dead-end for everyone. Another name for that capacity and value-set is integrity.
